Board of Commissioners

Commissioner Judge Dennis Middendorff's term on the Board expired on May 18, 2015. The Fifth District Appellate Court appointed retired Fifth District Appellate Court Justice James K. Donovan to a six-year term effective July 2, 2015, to succeed Judge Middendorff.

The Fall Board of Commissioners' meeting to approve the budget was not held because there was no budget to approve. Pursuant to a court order, the agency continued to be funded under a continuing appropriation.

The Board of Commissioners met via teleconference on Wednesday, March 23, 2016, and the Board approved the proposed FY-2017 budget in the amount of $21,780,211 which represented a decrease of $119,989 of the FY-2016 budget request. The proposed budget request would provide for the following:

- Full staffing of the agency;
- Increase the pay plan for all titles;
- Continuation of the Public Defender Training Program;
- Implementation of the Juvenile Defender Resource Center;
- Implementation of the Law Student Intern Program;
- Implementation of the a Rural Defense Services Project via an interagency agreement with the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority.

Committees

State Appellate Defender Michael J. Pelletier, continued to serve as a member of the Commissions, Boards and Task Forces for which he is statutorily designated. He attended the quarterly meetings of the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority as a Board member. He continued to attend the meetings of the Sentencing Policy Advisory Council and Adult Redeploy Illinois. He also attended meetings of the Illinois State Commission on Criminal Justice and Sentencing Reform comprised of more than two dozen criminal justice practitioners, lawmakers and policymakers established by Governor Rauner in February 2015. The Commission is charged with developing comprehensive, evidence-based strategies to meet the goal of reducing the Illinois' prison population 25% by 2025.

The agency's extensive use of the site supports the State's "Go Green" initiatives. In FY-2016, OSAD redesigned its intranet site and added an extensive Training Center for attorneys where Legal Issues and Attorney Procedures are documented.

Internet Web Site

The agency continues to provide the public with information regarding training programs and publications, including the Illinois Criminal Law Digest, Handbook on Briefs and Oral Arguments, Summary of Issues Pending in the Illinois Supreme Court and annual reports from prior years.

The agency also continues to provide extensive, timely information regarding the state's expungement process. The site includes easy to follow questionnaires which allow anyone to determine whether or not he or she is eligible to expunge or seal his or her record.

Finally, as part of our commitment to provide public defenders with resources for sharing information, the agency established the "Public Defender Resource Center," a place where public defenders can discuss issues, ask questions and share documents.

II. THE AGENCY

A. Introduction

The Office of the State Appellate Defender is a State of Illinois agency created by the State Appellate Defender Act (725 ILCS 105). The primary function of the agency is stated in §105/10 of the Act:

"The State Appellate Defender shall represent indigent persons on appeal in criminal and delinquent minor proceedings, when appointed to do so by a court under a Supreme Court Rule or law of this State."

The Office of the State Appellate Defender does not initiate or generate the criminal appeals it handles. Criminal appeals are brought by defendants convicted of crimes and the Agency does not appear as counsel on an appeal until appointed to do so by a court, which makes the determination that the defendant is indigent and qualifies for the agency's services.

Pursuant to the State Appellate Defender Act (§105/9), the agency maintains an office in each of the five Judicial, or Appellate Court, Districts in Illinois. There is an Appellate Court and an Appellate Defender District Office in Chicago, Elgin, Ottawa, Springfield and Mt. Vernon. The agency has its Administrative Office in Springfield. Each District Office has a Deputy Defender who is responsible for the administration and supervision of that office.

In 1986, the Office of the State Appellate Defender was nominated to receive the Clara Shortridge Foltz Award. This award is given jointly by the American Bar Association and the National Legal Aid and Defender Association for outstanding achievements in providing criminal defense services by a defender office. The award is named for the founder of the nation's public defender system. In October 1986, the Office of the State Appellate Defender was presented the Clara Shortridge Foltz Award for "dedicated service and outstanding achievements in the delivery of criminal defense services." The Agency received numerous letters in support of its nomination.

B. Historical Background

In 1956, the United States Supreme Court held that the State of Illinois had the constitutional obligation to provide a trial court transcript, without cost, to indigent defendants for criminal appeals (Griffin v. Illinois, 351 U.S. 12). In 1963, the Court held that indigent defendants had the constitutional right to have an attorney appointed to represent them in their criminal appeals. (Douglas v. California, 372 U.S. 353; Milani v. Illinois, 386 U.S. 12). In 1985, the Court further held that there is a constitutional right to the effective assistance of counsel in a criminal appeal. (Evitts v. Lucey, 469 U.S. 387).

The Illinois Constitution provides for the right to appeal (Art. VI, §6) and this right has been implemented by both legislation (725 ILCS 5/121-13, 725 ILCS 105/1) and Illinois Supreme Court Rules (Rules 607 and 605).

In the late 1960's, a statewide survey funded by the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission was conducted by the Illinois Public Defender Association to ascertain the needs of indigent criminal defendants in Illinois. This study, which included personal interviews with judges, State's Attorneys and defense lawyers, found that there was an urgent need for experienced, qualified lawyers in criminal appeals, including a need to change the manner in which lawyers for indigent criminal appeals were provided. In an attempt to meet some of the needs disclosed by the study, the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission awarded a grant, effective January 1, 1970, to create the Illinois Defender Project. This grant provided for regional appellate defender offices in the Second, Third, Fourth, and Fifth Judicial, or the Appellate Court, Districts. During its three years of existence, the Illinois Defender Project was appointed in about 2,000 criminal appeals and maintained a consistently excellent record of performance.

In an attempt to continue the work of the Illinois Defender Project and meet the need for appellate counsel in criminal appeals, a bill was introduced in the Illinois Legislature to create a state-wide Appellate Defender Office. This bill, the "State Appellate Defender Act," was signed into law by Governor Ogilvie on August 18, 1972, and became effective on October 1, 1972. The Illinois Supreme Court appointed Theodore A. Gottfried as the first State Appellate Defender in December 1972, and he had been reappointed every four years thereafter. He retired after 35 years on December 31, 2007.

The Office of the State Appellate Defender presently represents virtually all indigent criminal appellants in Illinois. If the Office of the State Appellate Defender is not appointed to represent an indigent defendant in a criminal appeal, the respective counties are required to pay the cost for appointed counsel on appeal.

In a criminal appeal, the Office of the State Appellate Defender serves on the defense side of the case, as the counterpart of the Illinois Attorney General's Office (which represents the prosecution in the Illinois Supreme Court), the State's Attorney's Appellate Prosecutor, and the various State's Attorneys.

Capital Cases

From June 21, 1977, to June 30, 2011, a statute allowing the imposition of the death penalty was in effect in Illinois. This statute, as well as the Illinois Constitution and Illinois Supreme Court Rules, required an automatic appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court in all cases in which a person was sentenced to death. The representation of a person sentenced to death was an awesome responsibility, requiring extraordinary legal knowledge and meticulous preparation. The consequences of less than the highest quality of legal representation were obvious and irreversible.

The United States Supreme Court pointed out that the death penalty is not merely a more severe sentence, but it is an entirely different kind of sentence, requiring special procedures. For example, Chief Justice Burger, in Lockett v. Ohio, 438 U.S. 586 (1978), stated: "We are satisfied that this qualitative difference between death and other penalties calls for a greater degree of reliability when the death sentence is imposed."

The Illinois Legislature also recognized the substantial difference between the death penalty and other criminal penalties. The death penalty statutes required unique sentencing procedures, including a hearing before a jury, an eligibility phase at which a statutory aggravating factor must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt, an aggravation-mitigation phase at which the jury is required to weigh all aggravating evidence and all mitigating evidence, and the imposition of the death sentence only by a unanimous jury verdict. Additionally, the Illinois Supreme Court treated death penalty cases differently by providing for automatic perfection of such appeals, allowing appointment of two lawyers giving priority to death penalty cases over all others, and by permitting a death sentence to be carried out only by final order of the Supreme Court.

Appeals in death penalty cases were more difficult and time consuming than non-capital appeals. Capital cases usually consisted of records which were extremely large, frequently containing thousands of pages. Most capital cases involved lengthy jury trials, with many motions, objections and evidentiary disputes. The jury selection procedure in most capital cases was much longer because the prospective jurors were "death penalty qualified," and the parties were entitled to twice as many peremptory challenges.

The sentencing hearing in capital cases was similar to a trial itself. It was usually held before a jury (whereas sentencing hearings in other cases are not) and generally involved the calling of numerous witnesses and lengthy testimony pertaining to the entire background of the defendant. Additionally, capital sentencing hearings contained many motions and arguments concerning the interpretation and application of the death penalty statute, constitutional issues, and questions concerning the type of aggravation and mitigation evidence that may have been introduced.

In non-capital appeals there is rarely an issue pertaining to the selection of the jury and seldom more than a single issue concerning sentencing; however, in capital cases there were numerous issues involving the selection of the jury and the sentencing hearing.

The difference in difficulty between capital and non-capital appeals can be illustrated by the written decisions of the Illinois Supreme Court. In capital cases, unless the Court reversed the case on a single issue or two, the opinions were normally twenty pages or more -- sometimes thirty or forty pages. In non-capital cases, the Supreme Court opinions are usually less than ten pages. For example, in non-capital criminal cases decided by the Court in 1986, only two opinions were more than ten pages and twelve opinions were six pages or less. Additionally, the Supreme Court generally issues opinions in non-capital cases in the term of court immediately following the term in which the case was orally argued. In capital cases, due to their difficulty, the opinions were usually issued at least three or four terms later.

The Office of the State Appellate Defender recognized and confronted the difficult and unique responsibility of representing individuals sentenced to death. In 1977 the agency initiated a procedure to assure the highest quality of representation for all clients sentenced to death. A group of six experienced agency lawyers was organized to become thoroughly knowledgeable of all aspects of the death penalty. This death penalty group engaged in extensive research, kept abreast of court decisions and legislation dealing with the death penalty, prepared numerous detailed memorandums, and organized a large amount of materials. The materials prepared and assembled by the death penalty group proved to be extremely valuable in assisting lawyers and saving them many hours of research time in the handling of death penalty cases at both the trial and appeal level.

It was originally envisioned that the death penalty group of lawyers would handle, quickly and effectively, all death penalty appeals to which the agency was appointed. However, due to the time and difficulty involved in such appeals and the increase in agency appointments, it became clear that this group of lawyers could not handle all of the death penalty cases. Thus, death penalty appeals were assigned to various experienced lawyers in the agency's district offices, with two lawyers assigned to each case.

Supreme Court Unit

In Fiscal Year-1983, the agency received funding to establish a Supreme Court Unit. This Unit, a separate office similar to a District Office, was located in Springfield and was assigned to and had the primary responsibility for death penalty cases. The lawyers in the Supreme Court Unit handled death penalty appeals and maintained a thorough knowledge of death penalty matters as well as assisted other Agency lawyers who were assigned to death penalty appeals. On March 9, 2011, Governor Pat Quinn signed legislation to abolish the death penalty effective July 1, 2011. As a result of the abolition of the death penalty, the Supreme Court Unit closed its doors on April 15, 2011.

Capital Trial Assistance Unit

The Capital Trial Assistance Unit (formerly known as the Death Penalty Trial Assistance Unit) came into existence on January 1, 2000. It was created by an amendment to the State Appellate Defender Act, providing that the State Appellate Defender may in cases where a death sentence was an authorized disposition, provide trial counsel with the assistance of legal counsel, expert witnesses, investigators and mitigation specialists from funds appropriated to the State Appellate Defender specifically for that purpose by the General Assembly 725 ILCS 105/10(c)(5). The mission of this office was to ensure that indigent defendants facing the death penalty received the assistance of zealous, dedicated attorneys armed with resources adequate to properly investigate and defend their cases at trial and at sentencing. As a result of the abolition of the death penalty, the Capital Trial Assistance Unit, with offices in Chicago, Springfield, and Belleville, also closed its doors on April 15, 2011.

Capital Post-Conviction Unit

The Supreme Court Committee on Post-Conviction Representation in Death Penalty Cases presented its final report to the Supreme Court in November 1988. The report recommended a new division of the State Appellate Defender to coordinate and provide support to appointed lawyers who provide representation in these cases.

In the Fall Session of 1989, legislation was passed and funds were appropriated by the State of Illinois and the Federal Government to establish the Capital Resource Center. The Capital Resource Center recruited and maintained a panel of private attorneys willing to represent death row inmates in post-conviction proceedings. Illinois attorneys responded enthusiastically to participating on the Panel of Attorneys. Federal funding for the Capital Resource Center ceased in Fiscal Year-1996. As a result, the office was renamed the Capital Litigation Division of the Office of the State Appellate Defender. Effective January 1, 2005, the Capital Litigation Division was renamed the Post Conviction Unit, and on May 1, 2008, the Post Conviction Unit was renamed the Capital Post-Conviction Unit. Although the death penalty was abolished effective July 1, 2011, and the governor commuted the sentences of the 15 individuals sentenced to death, the Office of the State Appellate Defender received state funds for FY-2012 to complete work on what were then non-capital post-conviction cases. On June 30, 2012, at the conclusion of FY-2012, the Capital Post-Conviction Unit was closed.

C. Work of the Agency

Generally

Any indigent defendant convicted of a felony or a Class A misdemeanor or other offense in which imprisonment is imposed, and any minor adjudicated as delinquent, is entitled to the services of the Office of the State Appellate Defender upon appointment by a court. The appeal process normally commences when the defendant files a notice of appeal in the Circuit Court. The Record on Appeal is then prepared. The Record on Appeal includes a verbatim transcript of the proceedings (such as testimony of witnesses, arguments of counsel, rulings by the judges, etc.) and all documents filed in the case (such as indictments or information, written motions, jury instructions and verdicts, etc.).

Upon the agency's appointment as appellate counsel, the appeal is assigned to an Assistant Appellate Defender. This lawyer must then read the entire Record on Appeal in order to become totally familiar with all of the proceedings which occurred in the Circuit Court - ranging from pre-trial matters, the trial itself, post-trial motions, and the sentencing stage. Occasionally, certain portions of the record are missing and the lawyer must obtain such missing portions. In order to ensure that no possible legal issue is overlooked, the lawyer interviews the client and communicates with the trial lawyer.

After a complete and careful reading of the Record on Appeal, the lawyer must note and research every potential legal issue which might be raised on appeal. Once the issues, along with the authority in support of the issues, are decided upon, the lawyer begins the preparation of the appellant's opening brief. The brief must include several specific sections, which are required by Ill.Sup.Ct. Rules 341 and 342 - Points and Authorities, Nature of the Case, Issues Presented for Review, Jurisdiction, Statutes Involved, Statement of Facts, Argument, Conclusion and Appendix. The preparation of the brief requires a thorough understanding of the Circuit Court proceedings - pleadings, motions, objections, rulings, testimony, exhibits, and arguments, contained in the Record on Appeal (the transcript is often lengthy because about 200 typewritten pages are required for each day of trial). The appellant's brief is required to contain a complete and accurate description of all facts relevant to the appeal. Additionally, legal arguments in the brief must be supported by the citation and discussion of authority, such as statutes, decisions of the Illinois Supreme and Appellate Courts, decisions of the United States Supreme Court, or decisions of courts in other jurisdictions.

When a draft of the brief is completed, it is reviewed by the Deputy Defender or a Supervisor. The reviewing lawyer reads the draft brief to ensure that it contains all relevant facts and covers every possible legal argument and legal authority accurately and in proper form. The reviewer may suggest that changes be made. Upon final review and approval by the reviewer, the brief is prepared in final form and filed in the reviewing court.

When a conscientious examination of the Record on Appeal and thorough research reveal that any issues that could be raised on appeal are wholly frivolous and without merit, the agency files an Anders brief. Such a brief, named after the decision in Anders v. California, 386 U.S. 738 (1967), requests permission to withdraw from the appeal and includes a supporting document explaining the facts and legal authorities concerning why there are no arguable appellate issues. Before an Anders brief is filed, the appeal is subjected to intensive review to ensure that it is, in fact, meritless. Every year, there are Anders briefs filed by the agency.

After the agency's opening appellant brief is filed, the prosecution then prepares an appellee's brief. Following the filing of the appellee's brief, the agency lawyer may file a reply brief, which responds to the arguments and authorities presented by the prosecution in the appellee's brief.

Once the briefs have been filed, an appeal may then be scheduled for oral argument. After oral argument, the appeal is then taken under advisement and a written opinion or order is prepared by the court.

Following the decision of the Appellate Court, either party may file a Petition for Rehearing and may ultimately seek review in the Illinois Supreme Court by filing a Petition for Leave to Appeal. When the Supreme Court grants a Petition for Leave to Appeal, additional briefs are usually required and oral argument is presented. After oral argument, the case is taken under advisement and a written opinion or order is prepared. A Petition for Rehearing may then be filed by either party.

To ensure that agency clients receive high quality and prompt representation, the Agency has implemented lawyer productivity standards. Every document filed by agency lawyers is expected to be "of the highest quality, filed in a timely manner, and in full compliance with applicable court rules." (Office of the State Appellate Defender, Policies and Procedures Manual (2009) Ch. 37, A, 4 a.) Additionally, the agency has implemented "Minimum Work Standards." (Policies and Procedures Manual (2009) Ch. 37, A, 4 b.)
